

Walls in the world

“The great wall of Morocco” known as “the security belt”, is a defensive wall 2,720 km. long. It serves to protect Morocco from hostile intentions of Polisario.

- South Korea also protects itself from North Korea with a 'barrier'.

- India as well built its 3,300 km wall to separate itself from neighboring Pakistan.

- Botswana built electrified fences along its border with Zimbabwe. According to official sources “it is only to prevent hoof and mouth disease contaminated farm animals from entering the country”. In fact it serves to prevent the arrival of those who are trying to escape ethnical clensing massacres.

The image is a map of the border region between Saudi Arabia and Yemen. The Saudi Arabian territory is shown in the upper and middle portions, while Yemen is in the lower portion. A red line represents the political border, and a thick red line represents a security fence. The security fence is located approximately 7 kilometers south of the political border. The map includes geographical features like rivers and terrain, as well as a grid of latitude and longitude lines.

Saudi Arabia

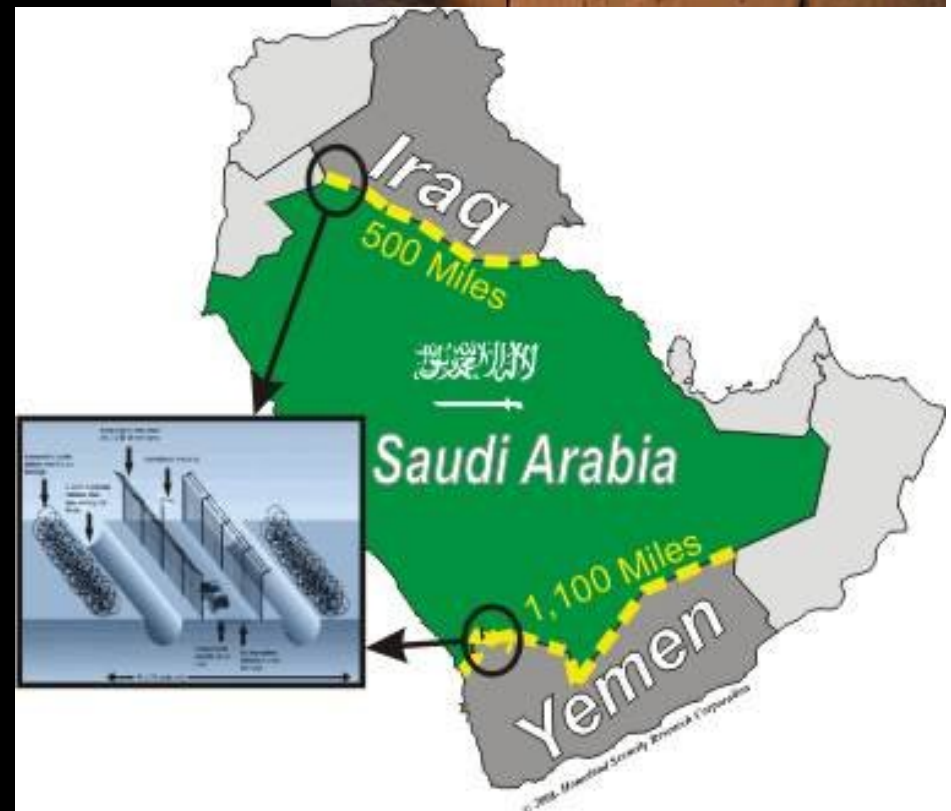

Saudi Arabia built a concrete wall with sophisticated electronic monitoring devices. The wall is intended to prevent yemenite infiltration into the country. The barrier costs over 700 million dollars. Little matters the anger of local yemenite tribes denouncing the reduction of yemenite territory by 7 kms.

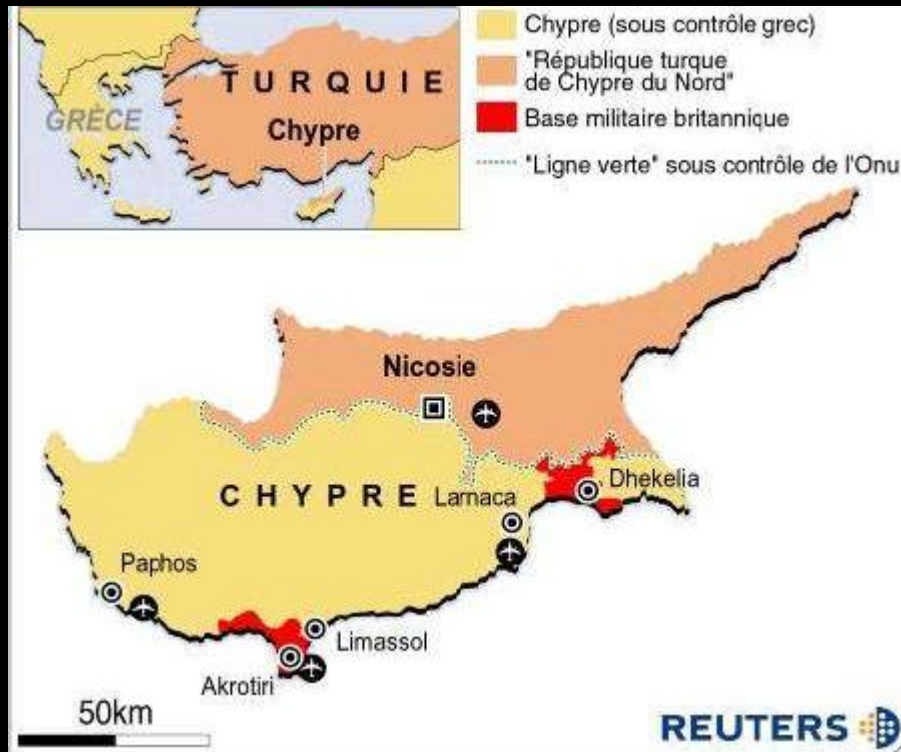

Political border

Security fence

Yemen

Saudi Arabia
erects a 900 km ultra modern barrier on its border with irak
as well

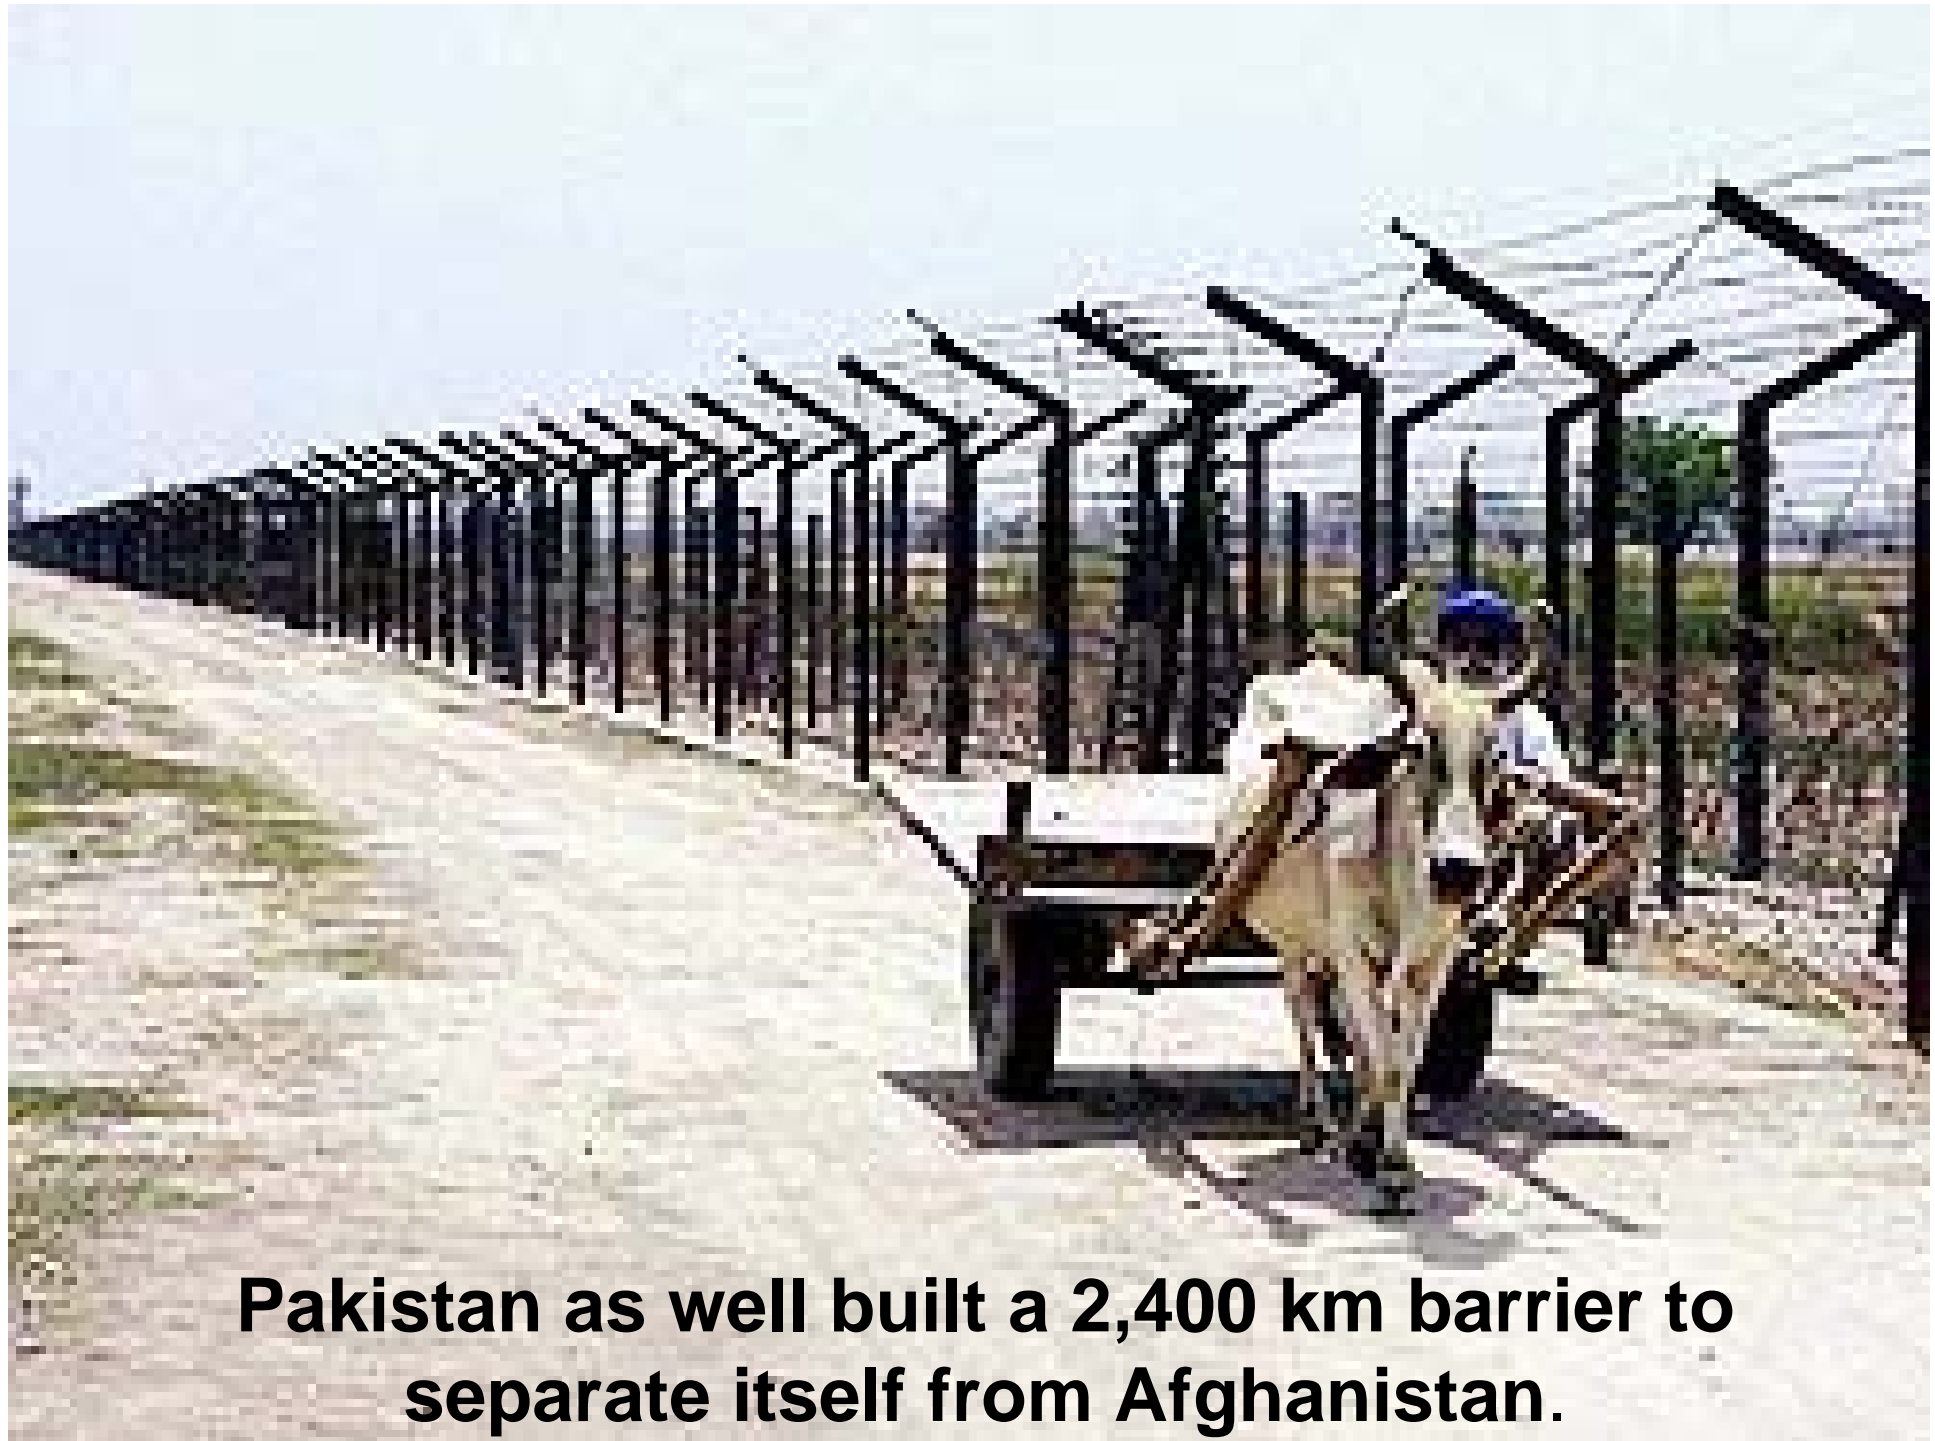

Turkey claims part of the island of Cyprus and delimits that territory by a barrier as well.

Since 2007, Thailand erected a 75 km barrier along its most accessible border with Malaysia.

According to Bangkok, its purpose is to prevent southern troubled provinces's muslim terrorists, from entering the northern part of the country.

Pakistan as well built a 2,400 km barrier to separate itself from Afghanistan.

Uzbekistan erected a closure along its border with Tadjikistan. United Arab Emirates are in the process of building a barrier on their border with Oman and Kuwait reinforces the existing 215 km structure along its border with Irak

What about the United States? What about Obama and his speech at Cairo?
What about this land of liberty?

- The wall between Mexico and the United States is being erected to protect America from Mexicans who try to illegally enter the country in order to escape poverty and misery .

And what about Europe ?

Always so ready to condemn certain others?.

Spain of Javier Solana and of Moratinos erected an electrified barrier guarded continuously by soldiers at Ceuta and Melilla. It serves to protect Spain from illegal maroccan and sub Saharian workers who try to enter its territory to escape famine.

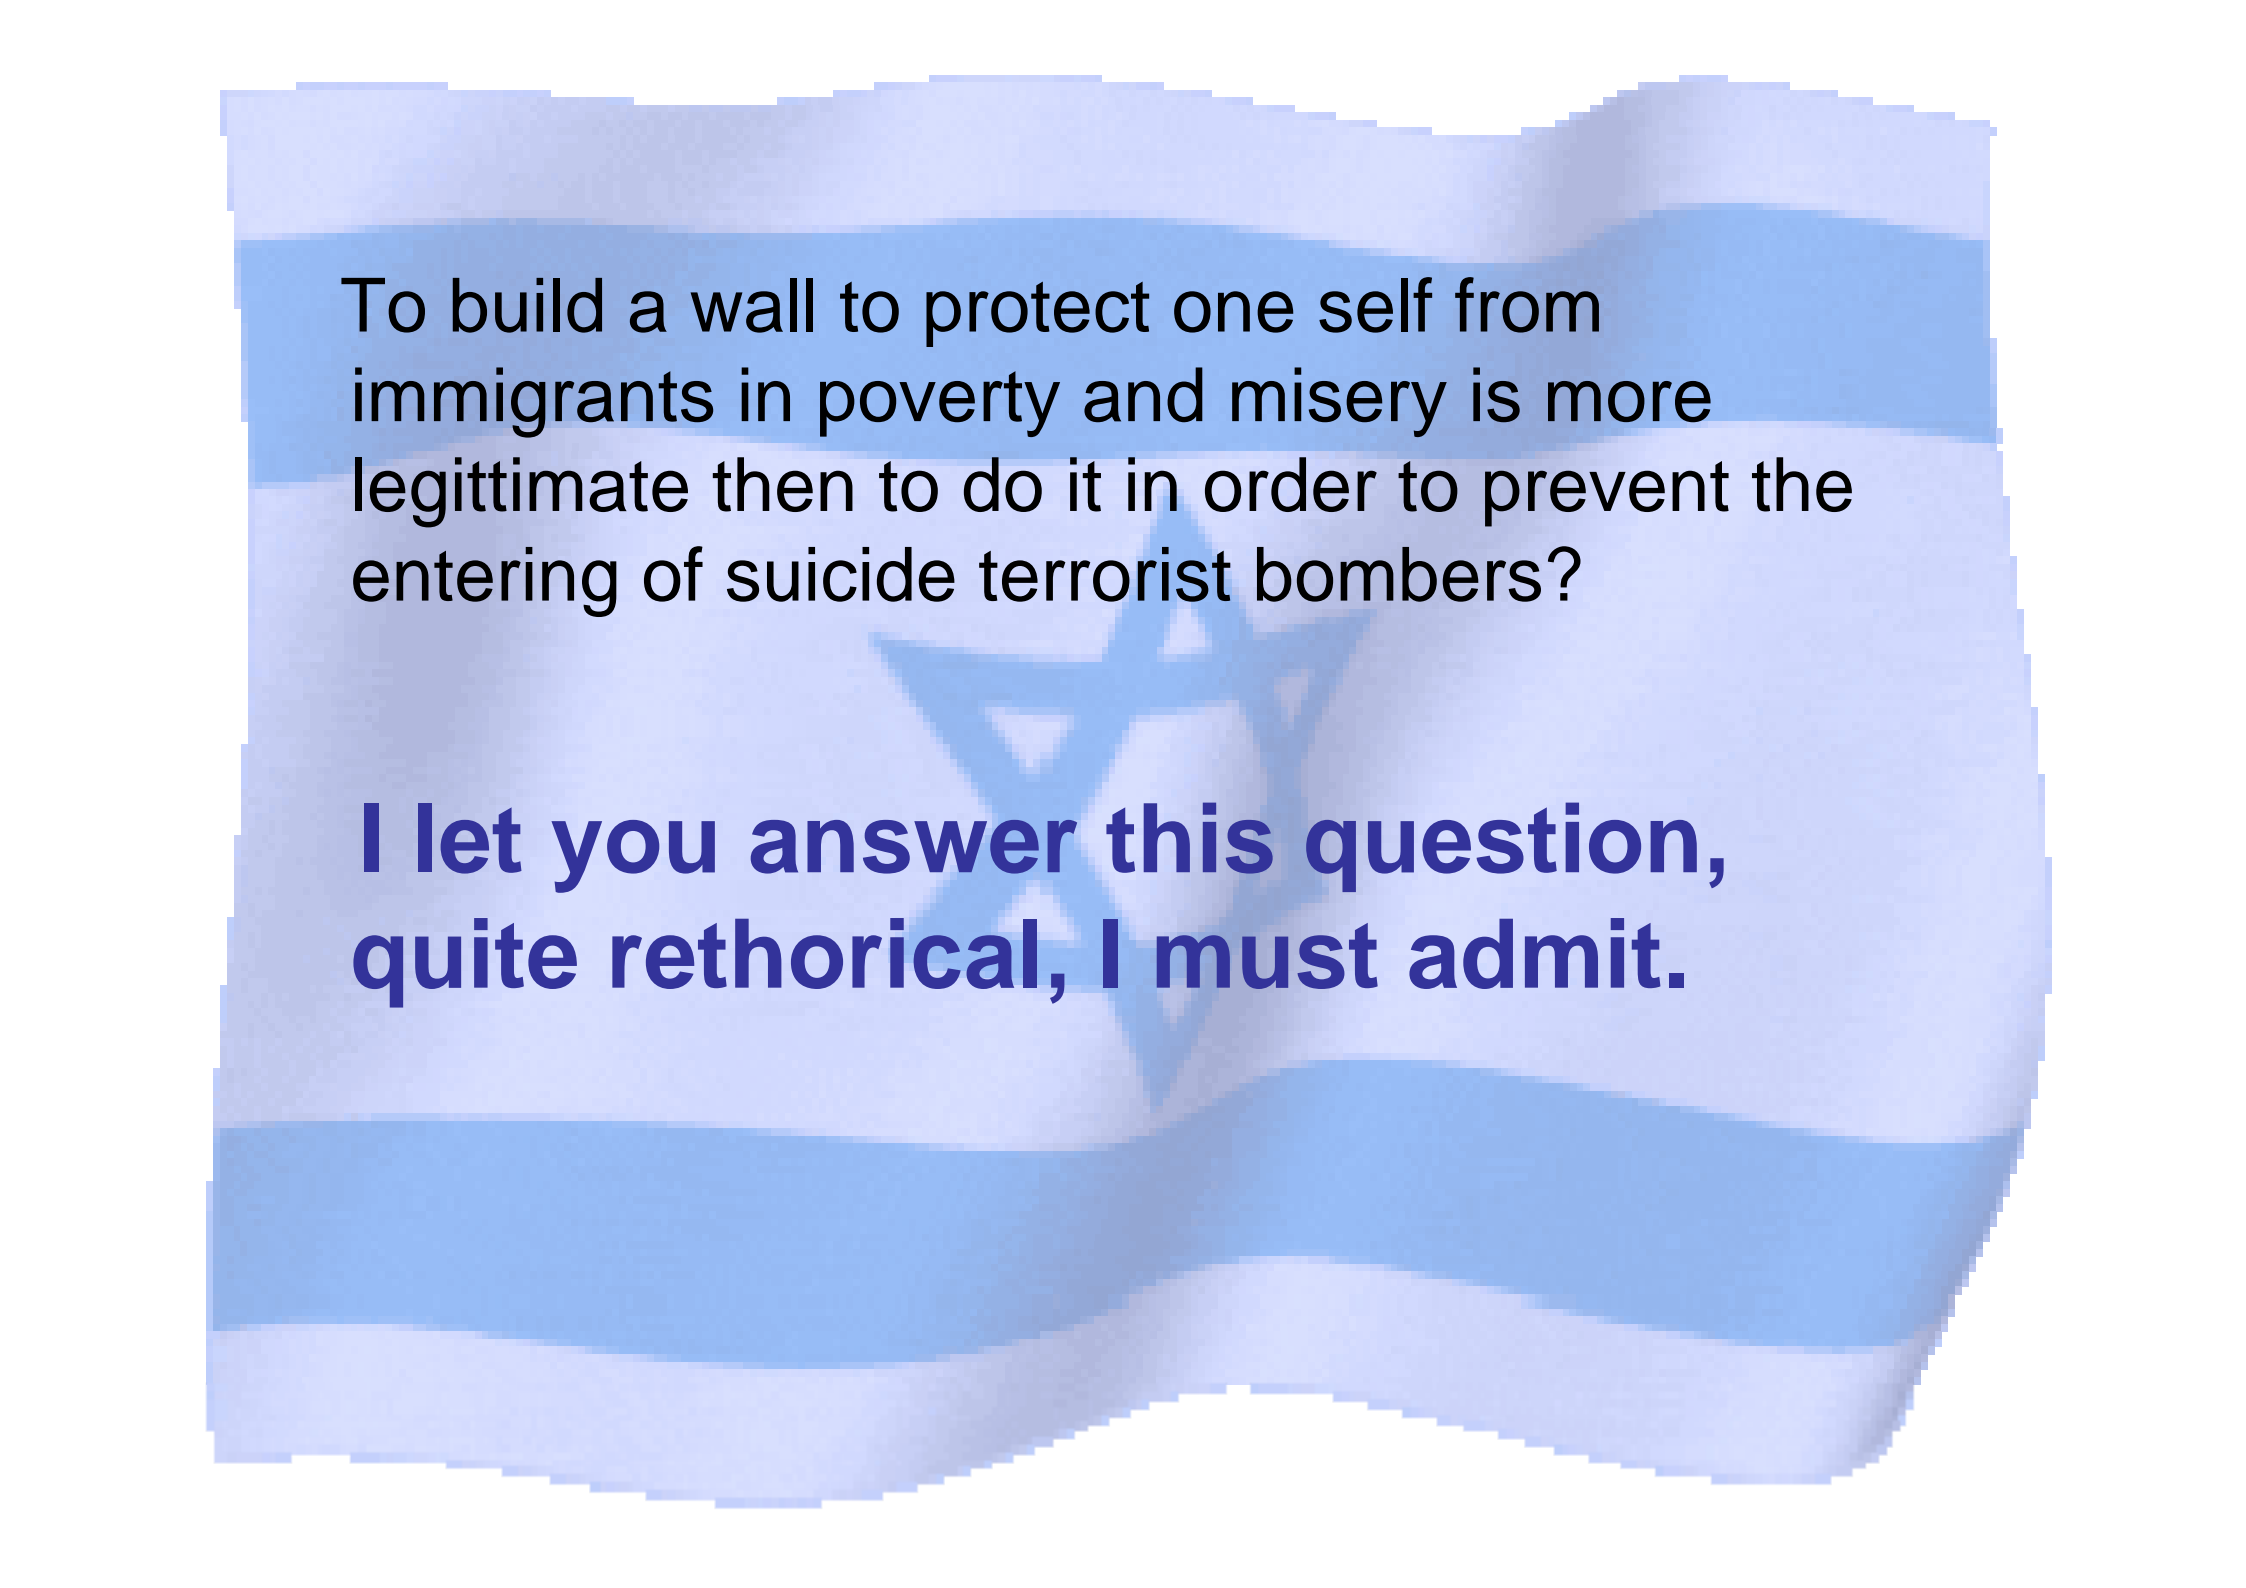

There are also the famous “walls of Ireland” where, for over thirty years catholics and protestants desire to be separated from each other. For this, roads have been cut in order to end the throwing of stones, molotov cocktails, hand grenades and various other projectiles.

Entire areas of Belfast have been disfigured, homes destroyed and residents expelled in total general international indifference.

But the ONLY wall called “the wall of shame” is the one built by the State Of Israel !

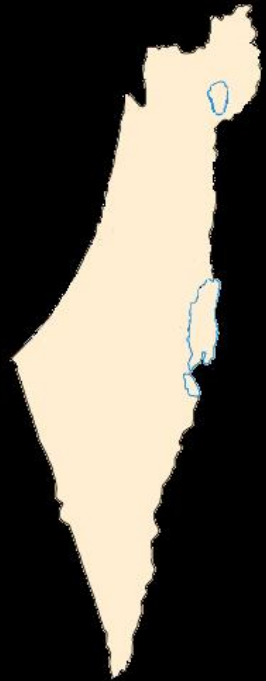

For Israel however the benefit of such a wall is without question: between 2002 and 2008 the number of victims of suicide bomb attacks on its soil has fallen from 451 to 7!. This fall of 98.5% does not of course apply at Eilat nor Dimona, nor along the Judean desert as these areas are not yet enclosed in the security barrier.

To build a wall to protect one self from immigrants in poverty and misery is more legitimate then to do it in order to prevent the entering of suicide terrorist bombers?

I let you answer this question, quite rethorical, I must admit.

This PPS is graciously offered to you by

Valérie Amram d'Onofrio

www.amram.tw

June 2009

Translated from French by Nico Chiarini

Massive circulation authorized